

Comment

It is the inclusion of short description along with the code to increase its readability when a developer or coder write a program then he or she use the comments to write his / her thought process inside the same code

It is written by the symbol # symbol

It is the simply the notes of the programmer which provides clarity of the code, and which are ignored by the python interpreter programmer write code in two ways at the beginning of the line of text where a comment is needed (Single line comment)

""" at the beginning and the end of the python comment (Multiline comment)