

In single bus Organization Only One data item or instr. can be processed at execution cycle or clock cycle.

To reduce the no. of steps must processor provided multi bus Organization to enable several transactions that can take place in parallel manner.

If multi bus structure are used to connect the registers and ALU of the processor.

All registers are considered and combined to a single block called as register file.