

→ The elements are accessed by comma key as index.

Ex Print (D[name]) # of John

for key in D:

Print (key, D[key])

Evaluation of expression:

Relational expression:

The operand data type should same.

"abc" == "abc" True

"abc" > "def" False

"abc" < "def" True

"apple" > "aen" False

Logical Expression:

Logical operators work on

① Relational expression

② Number, String, List & tuple

OR

Number, String, List & tuple

or empty value = False

non zero or non empty = True

→ The or operators working on these value always return first true.