

Type III Driver (Network Protocol Driver) (Middleware Driver)

- This driver known as middleware driver.
- It has a three tier approach to access database.
- It communicate driven are extremely flexible, since no code is installed ~~is~~ on the client side. Even a single driver can provide access to multiple database.
- It communicate with the middleware application server through a standard network socket.